

1 they do so, why don't we make it mandatory that they
2 shall also provide for the removal? In other words,
3 why do we use "may" instead of "shall" in the last
4 sentence?

5 MR. GENTRY: I think we felt that they 6 certainly would provide. I don't think the 7 Committee, unless I hear something, has any strong 8 feelings about that. We would be content if it is 9 felt better to have "shall."

10 THE CHAIRMAN: If you are going to substitute
11 "shall," you have to turn the sentence around a little,
12 I think, by saying something such as "and shall provide 13 the means or methods by which such disqualification shall 14 be removed." You don't want to make it mandatory that 15 they be removed.

16 MR. MILLER: May be removed. Aren't there
17 some you wouldn't want removed?

18 THE CHAIRMAN: I just suggested that.

19 MR. GENTRY: It comes back to me now. I
20 think that was the reason for the "may." It was felt 21 they would provide for a system or criteria for the
