

1 course, the possibility that the number of candidates
2 would be such that you would have elected as delegates
3 those who were known to and hence supported by the 4 people in these large centers of population and thereby
5 prevent election of people not in these large centers
6 of population.

7 I happen not to live in one of the large
8 centers of population and my district, I have to get 9 personal in this sense here to illustrate the point,
10 happens to be very, very large geographically. It
11 happens to include, I think, an area in which this 12 Commission could find a large number of persons that 13 it would deem to be well qualified to serve on a
14 constitutional convention.

15 In addition it happens to include among 16 its residents Mr. Case, Dr. Winslow, and myself. I
17 could name, I am sure, and Mr. Case, I am sure, could 18 name 25 or 50 people without trying in that same large
19 area. If we have a system of limiting the election
20 of candidates by districts, it would mean that there
21 could be three delegates elected from the Fifth Legislative
