

1 risk is far out weighed by the chaotic results that
2 would occur if you elected at large and by the lack of
3 confidence in the Commission that would be inspired if
4 you created new districts that would look like they
5 are gerrymandered.

6 MR. GENTRY: I would say you could safely
7 predict now if the vote were at large in Baltimore
8 City, you would have all Adams, Aarons, Abrams, and
9 Browns and no one else would have a chance.

10 MR. CASE: Going by lot.

11 THE CHAIRMAN: Any further discussion? I
12 would like to ask a question to get it on the record.
13 Am I correct that there are six delegates in each of the 14 seven Baltimore City --

15 MR. SYKES: They vary.

16 THE CHAIRMAN: 42 or 43.

17 MR. SCANLAN: Six have seven and one has
18 eight.

19 MR. BROOKS: Three have eight, two have seven,
20 one has six.

21 MRS. BOTHE: There is another consideration.
