

1 thing. It is actually the position on the line. There
2 are many instances where a person with a name high in 3 the alphabet is in a disadvantageous position. I am 4 thinking more from the standpoint of the voter because 5 I do think that the voter is going to seek out alpha-6 betically those people he is determined to vote for 7 rather than by number. I am thinking also of the name, 8 the same situation which is likely to crop up. It is 9 much easier for a voter where some politician throws
10 in a contender of the similar name. If you have the 11 sprinkled system, he will be searching for anybody
12 named Case and could just as well choose the wrong one.
13 I really feel that this is going to add a great deal of 14 confusion and it has never been done before as far as I 15 know. The act of drawing itself may lead to a lot of 16 ill feeling. I don't feel that it affords as much 17 protection as it does confusion.

18 THE CHAIRMAN: Any further discussion?

19 Mr. Scanlan?

20 MR. SCANLAN: I gave the reasons the 21 Committee recommends.
