2 providing that the convention shall determine the validity
3 of the election qualifications of its members, if until 4 the time that the convention assembles, there is any 5 vacancy in the delegation representing any county or 6 legislative district, the governor shall appoint a 7 person who shall possess the qualifications set by this 8 act for delegates to the Constitutional Convention to 9 fill the vacancy.

10 That is up to the moment the Convention
11 formally convenes September 2, 1967. Following
12 election until the actual formal convening on September
13 11, 1967, the Governor would have the power to appoint
14 a person as delegate who possessed the necessary 15 qualifications. Then the language goes on, after the 16 Convention assembles, if a vacancy in a delegation to 17 the Convention exists or occurs, then the Convention
18 shall fill the vacancy.

19 This is recognized once the Convention is 20 convened -- I don't like to use the power unto itself --
