2 MR. MILLER: I have one thought where the 3 weakness in our present set-up is and I get back to the 4 crackpot. If Joe Doakes is endorsed by all of the people
5 in his district, say, a one-man district, and nobody 6 runs against him except a crackpot and then he 7 dies, those things happen with 142 people. The crackpot,
8 there is no vacancy, therefore the crackpot becomes 9 automatically the delegate from that particular 10 district. It seems to me that is a weakness because 11 while I am heartily in favor of this being a non-partisan
12 election, I think it would be a mistake for somebody
13 to luck in just because there might be none running
14 against Joe Doakes and he dies but this crackpot goes 15 in.

16 THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Scanlan, can you
17 consider that in connection with the matter you are 18 considering? Do you follow his point?

19 MR. SCANLAN: I believe so.

20 THE CHAIRMAN: Take a district with three 21 candidates, four filed. You think that the three who
