

1 Add to section 8 where we are talking about rules of 2 procedures, the matter of a quorum, for instance,
3 twelve would be a rule of procedure. Keeping a journal
4 is a procedure rule.

5 MR. SCANLAN: Keeping of a journal is, I
6 think, of a different, it rises beyond the ordinary 7 procedure rule situation. Making the proceedings of the 8 Convention public it seems to me is important enough
9 to warrant a special statutory provision. As Mr.
10 Hargrove reminded me, it is not only to inform the 11 public and those interested, but also to provide a 12 legislative history of these important proceedings.
13 I think rather than being sandwiched in a long section
14 which deals with the power of the Convention to prescribe 15 its procedural rules, its organization, that the duty of 16 the Convention to keep a journal and publish it, make 17 it available is something that warrants separate treat-
18 ment.

19 THE CHAIRMAN: I might remind you the 20 Constitutional Convention of 1867 decided not to do this.

21 MR. SCANLAN: Not to do what?
