

1 in high school. There is nothing to prevent their going 2 to high school. I think we ought to straighten out what 3 we mean by school age. When we talk of a compulsory
4 age, that is one thing but many, many students are beyond
5 the compulsory age. There is nothing I know of that would 6 prevent a veteran returning from war to go back to high 7 school at twenty-one, twenty-two or twenty-three.

8 MR. MILLER: We don't say anything about com-
9 pulsory education here. We say what the State is to 10 supply.

11 THE CHAIRMAN: I take it this Article does not 12 deal with the subject of compulsory education?

13 Mr. Gentry?

14 MR. GENTRY: I would like to speak in favor of 15 the Committee draft in opposition to the motion. You've 16 got to look, I think, at the Sections 1 and 2.

17 THE CHAIRMAN: We are not debating the motion
18 yet.

19 MRS. FREEDLANDER: Just to reassure Congress-
20 man Miller, the election code which is Article 77, makes 21 numerous provisions for people who are overage, so to
