

1 that that particular amendment would be unconstitutional.
2 However, the balance of the Autonomy Act as we now have 3 it and similar provisions to those which are contained 4 in it would be perfectly proper for the Legislature to 5 pass, and of course, the University would be subject to 6 the Legislature when it came time for appropriations. It
7 would have no firsthand grab in the State Treasury and 8 could be made to give an account of its funds. The 9 proposition is merely that after the funds are appropriated,
10 the University has internal control and management and 11 determination of how its funds are to be spent.

12 THE CHAIRMAN: Any further question?

13 MR. SCANLAN: The phrase as used, the University
14 of Maryland shall be managed by the Regents of the Univer-
15 sity of Maryland in accordance with law, suppose the 16 General Assembly could pass a law to put aside for a moment
17 the Fourteenth Amendment objections to it, should pass a 18 law providing that Freudian psychology shall not be 19 taught in any public institutions in this State. Under 20 Section 3, would such a statute be unconstitutional, or 21 would the Board of Regents be forced to observe the
