

1 their functions, powers and duties and may assign new 2 functions, powers and duties to them; but the governor
3 may make such changes in the allocation of such functions, 4 powers and duties as he considers necessary for 5 efficient administration. Those changes which affect 6 existing law shall be set forth in executive orders
7 which shall be submitted to the General Assembly. The 8 General Assembly shall have sixty days of a regular 9 session to consider these executive orders and, if 10 specifically approved or not specifically disapproved or 11 modified, they shall have the force of law at a date
12 thereafter to be designated by the governor.

13 I might say by way of explanation that our 14 concept here is to grant substantial executive power 15 of reorganization within the state in terms of the 16 reassignment of powers and duties within departments.
17 It is not our concept that the Governor shall have the 18 power to create or augment new provision or new plans 19 without executive, without legislative approval. We 20 feel that the proper, that it is impossible in the 21 Constitution to try to specify the power, the Department
