

1 think the article went on to state how this happens year
2 after year after year, that wherever there is a Constitu-
3 tional limitation on the session of the Legislature, there
4 are continuous Constitutional Amendments changing these 5 terms around and the terms that were recited in there vary, 6 of course, from state to state; but the one thing that was 7 clear from the article was that no matter what figure was 8 chosen, there were Constitutional Amendments pending to 9 change them, and I think that only points up the weakness
10 of putting in such a limitation in the Constitution.

11 THE CHAIRMAN: Any further discussion? Mr. Miller 12 you have spoken on the question, so has Mr. Della. Any 13 further discussion? Mr. Sykes?

14 MR. SYKES: I would like to ask a question. I
15 wasn't on the Commission when any of this previous action
16 was taken. I was impressed just now by Congressman Miller's 17 point that the organization of the Legislature certainly 18 ought to carry over into special sessions and maybe the 19 following year over a specified period.

20 What I wanted to ask was whether the third recom-
21 mendation of the Legislative Committee that the Legislature
