

1 Constitution, the same cannot be said of the other
2 institutions which have, and particularly the Board of 3 State Colleges, has only an existence of a few years,
4 very few years, and has had no experience with management
5 of its own funds, per se. I would urge that you vote
6 against the motion.

7 THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Sayre?

8 MR. SAYRE: I have two questions; the first
9 one is in interpreting higher education, does that include
10 colleges?

11 DR. BARD: I think we ought to add the word,
12 State public institutions. I think that is a good con-
13 cept.

14 MR. SAYRE: Then it would not include --

15 DR. BARD: Would not include the junior col-
16 leges.

17 MR. SAYRE: So the junior colleges could move
18 into a State position if the Legislature made it.

19 DR. BARD: That is possible. The junior col-
20 leges are local institutions. The question is an impor-
21 tant one, far more important than it may seem. As
