

1 can make people feel that the whole enterprise of 2 government in Maryland is being given a forward look.

3 THE CHAIRMAN: You want to spell schwaaltz?

4 MR. SYKES: It is spelled s-c-h-m-a-l-t-z.

5 JUDGE ADKINS: I should like to make three 6 brief points in supporting bicameralism. First of all,
7 I think the point that Martin Jenkins made should be 8 reiterated. Bicameralism is thoroughly ingrained in 9 the whole framework of our Government at the Federal 10 level and also at the State level. That means to me
11 that the proponents of unicameralism have a very heavy
12 burden to bear. So far, I have heard no reason advocated 13 in favor of unicameralism except the possible saving of 14 expense.

15 Now, I am mindful of the necessity to save
16 expense, but I have not noticed that argument to prevail
17 in other areas in debates of this Commission, and I urge 18 it not be decisive in this particular debate. I think 19 that the burden has not been met, and to that extent, we 20 should follow tradition.

21 The second point I would like to make, well,
