

1 the ballot authorizing the Code County.

2 MR. CLAGETT: Assuming on November 8, 11 (f)
3 is an additional part of the Constitution, a County,
4 in order to take advantage of and become a Code County 5 must follow the procedure there provided, and it must 6 adopt, it must exercise its option to adopt a Code
7 County approach. Implementing legislation has already 8 been drafted, based upon an anticipated adoption of 9 Article 11 (f), and substantially it is a reenactment
10 of Article 23, I mean, it is a substantial reenactment 11 of Article 23 (b), which is the one providing for the 12 County Commissioner form of government. Insofar as 13 the difference between this and that under this approach, 14 it will be one of the optional plans that can be adopted
15 by the County along with a form of optional charter plan.
16 It will be one of several possibilities that the County 17 can adopt. Now, if the County adopts none, it will have 18 to continue to exercise the broad grant of power under its 19 existing County Commissioner form of government without 20 the benefit of the structure.

21 MR. CASE: So that the only real difference is that under the present Constitution if it is amended by
