

1 about that are substantial are very small, and some of 2 those municipalities in that 115 have no more than five
3 or six persons in them. So the dissolution is contem-
4 plated, and it is thought to be a good one. I point out
5 a further fact, and that is in Baltimore County and 6 Howard County, you have no municipalities whatsoever,
7 and they get along reasonably well in comparison with 8 Prince Georges and other big Counties.

9 MR. CASE: May I ask what in this particular 10 point on four provisions would prevent an existing new 11 municipality from annexing?

12 MR. CLAGETT: Nothing except the concept of 13 the County.

14 MR. CASE: It doesn't say anything about that.
15 Doesn't this sentence deal with new municipalities?

16 MR. SCANLAN: Changing its boundaries.

17 THE CHAIRMAN: You are touching on the con-
18 flict that I mentioned before. There is a conflict in 19 language, but the Committee has made it clear that 20 although there is a conflict in the language, they intend 21 the second sentence to be broader and to cover with
