in evidence before the court have the plan. It is difficult for me to see how that could happen.

MR. MELVIN: I suppose whoever would bring such a proceeding would include the governor's plan in it.

MR. MILES: Didn't you contemplate the Legislature only gets one crack at it, Dick, so we don't find ourselves back in the position we have been in in the past several years? I thought that is what you said.

THE CHAIRMAN: That is implicit in his motion.

MR. MILES: That is what I am asking.

THE CHAIRMAN: I rouldn't set necessarily one crack. Conceivably, you could have 1 lion terminated within whatever time limit you had, Dick, couldn't you?

MR. CASE: Within the time limit, yes, and of course, a chance to override the veto. That would be the second crack.

THE CHAIRMAN: I suppose, to answer your question, Ridge, that if there were some who thought that both the Legislature's and the governor's plan were invalid, that they could attack both in the same proceeding.

MR. MELVIN: I would think so, and then if it is
