

INDEX

- Ford, Paul Leicester, ed., Journals of Hugh Gaine, Printer, cited, 71n.
- Forms, Official, Nos. 8, 131, 223, 264, 316, 372a, 377.
- Fox, 127n.
- Foxcroft, John, deputy postmaster general, 133, 134n.
- Franklin, Benjamin, 52n, 54n, 73, 75, 79, 82, 83, 103, 123n, 124, 125, 126, 126n, 127n, 129n, 130, 131, 134, 134n.
- Franklin, Mrs. Benjamin, 124.
- Franklin, Gov. William, of New Jersey, 123; letters to Benjamin Franklin, 124, 131.
- Franklin and Hall, printers, of Philadelphia, 123, 124.
- "Franklin Papers," cited, 124n, 127n, 131, 131n.
- Frederick, Maryland, 97, Printing in, 146; Nos. 133, 134.
- Freedom and Love*, by the Rev. William Brogden, No. 140.
- Freeholder, Letter from a, No. 37.
- Fresh Intelligence. Baltimore, August 10 (1775)*, No. 352.
- Gaine, Hugh, printer, 71.
- Galloway, Benjamin, cited, 137n.
- Galloway, Joseph, 123; partnership with Goddard and Wharton, 124-127; Goddard's attacks on, 126-127.
- Galloway, Samuel, 105n.
- General Gage's Account of the late Battle at Boston (1775)*, No. 353.
- Georgia, Trustees of, No. 106.
- German printing in Maryland, 113, 114.
- Gerrevink, L. Van, papermaker in Holland, 110.
- Ghiselin, Reverdy, 106.
- Gittings—"the Widow Gittings," married to Thomas Reading (1705), 28.
- Goddard, Abigail (Angell), 142n.
- Goddard, Giles, 120, 129.
- Goddard, Mary Katherine, 15, 116, 118, 119n, 121, 126n, 129, 130, 133, 133n, 135, 138, 140, 141, 141n; summary of her work as printer and publisher, and as postmistress of Baltimore, 144-146.
- Goddard, Sarah (Updike), 15, 120, 121, 121n.
- Goddard, Sarah and Company, 121.
- Goddard, William, printer and journalist, 112, 112n, 114, 116, 118, 119-146; sources of information concerning, 119n, 121n; patriot or loyalist in Revolution, 119-120, 125, 143; birth and ancestry, 120; apprenticed to James Parker and John Holt, New Haven, 120; establishes first press and newspaper in Providence, R. I., 120-121; removes to New York, 122; prints the Constitutional Courant, 123; removes to Philadelphia and establishes the Pennsylvania Chronicle, 124; falls out with his partners, 125-126; financial troubles and failure of the Chronicle, 127; removes to Baltimore (1773) and establishes Maryland Journal, 128-129; establishes Constitutional Post Office, 129-134; becomes Surveyor of the U. S. Post Office, 134; defalcation as postmaster of Providence, 134n; petitions Congress for commission in army, 134-135; returns to Baltimore, 135; defends the freedom of the Press, 135-136; the "Tom-Tell Truth" episode, and the "Queries" of General Charles Lee, 136-140; conflicts with the Whig Club and the Baltimore mob, 136-140; partnership with Eleazer Oswald, 137-141; legacy from General Charles Lee, 141; literary executor of General Lee, 141n; resumes publication of Maryland Journal, 141; partnership with Edward Langworthy, 141; with James Angell, 142; marriage, 142n; farewell to Baltimore (1792), 142; retirement to Johnston, R. I., 142; death there (1817), 143; summary of character and achievements, 143.
- "Goddard's Post Offices," 133, 133n; see also Post Office, Constitutional.
- Goldsborough, Robert, 31n.
- "Good Intent," Proceedings of committee on, No. 299.
- Gordon, John, Nos. 117, 141.
- Gould, John, 51.
- Gover, Samuel, 54.