Passed Mar 12 1827
Accounts of late agent for the western shore

WHEREAS, from the repeated indulgencies granted by the legislature to certain state debtors, who became indebted to the state before the year 1822, the payment into the treasury of the monies due have been delayed, and the commissions, which the state's agent would have received, has thereby been withheld, under the provisions of the existing laws he is only entitled to receive a commission on those old state debts when the money has been actually paid into the treasury; Therefore,

RESOLVED, That the treasurer of the western shore, in settling the accounts of the late state's agent for the western shore, allow him the legal commission which he would have received, had not indulgencies been granted by the legislature to those state debtors, whose debts became due before the 21st of February 1822, when the act appointing agents was passed, and to pay to the said agent, or his order, one half of the amount of the said commissioners, and the other half when the said debts are paid into the treasury.
