20. NEW YORK. An | Address | Of The | Convention | Of The | Representatives | Of The | State | Of | New-York | To Their | Constituents. | [double rule] | Baltimore: Printed by Mary Katherine Goddard, at the Post- | Office, in Market-Street. | [single rule] | M,DCC,LXXVII.

Sm. 8vo. [A]-B<sup>4</sup>. Eight leaves.

Pages: [1]-15.

Leaf measures: 6½ x 3½ inches.

This address to the citizens of New York was of interest to the other states since it contains a statement of the principles for which the Revolution was being fought. On January 16, 1777 Congress resolved "That the convention of New York be informed that Congress highly approve of their spirited exertions for the defense of their own, and the state of New Jersey, against the desolation and ravages of our cruel and remorseless enemy; and that Congress have received the address of the said convention to the people of that State, containing sentiments highly and generally interesting to the inhabitants of these States, to whose serious perusal and attention it is earnestly recommended; and that the same be translated into the German language, and printed at the expence of the continent . . ." Journals of the Continental Congress. Vol. VII. 1777. p. 42. Two editions in English were printed at Fish-Kill, one at Norwich, one at Philadelphia and one at Baltimore. The German edition of one thousand copies was printed at Philadelphia.

Evans, 15469. Sabin, 53480.

JCB. Another copy, whereabouts now unknown, was sold at auction in 1921. See Anderson Galleries Catalogue, No. 1609, item No. 41.

21. [A Sketch of the Times: Or, The Cabinet Display'd. A Dramatic Piece Of Two Acts, Baltimore: Printed and Sold by John Dunlap, at the Printing-office, in Market-street. 1777.] ✓

Collation unknown.

This item is listed in Evans who attributes it to Baltimore, probably because of a newspaper advertisement of it in Dunlap's Maryland Gazette, Jan. 21, 1777, which reads: "Just published and to be sold by John Dunlap at his printing-office in Market-Street, Baltimore, A Sketch of the Times; or, the Cabinet Display'd. A Dramatic piece of two acts." It is more likely that it was printed in Philadelphia and several copies were sent down to James Hayes who inserted the advertisement in the paper that it was just published and for sale.

Evans, 15598.

No copy located.

22. SMITH, WILLIAM. Baltimore, November 2, 1777. | Fresh Important Intelligence, | Received this Morning. | York Town, Friday, October 31, 1777. | Dear Sir, | This moment Col. Wilkinson arrived with dis- | patches from General Gates, which informs, | of the capitulation of Gen. Burgoyne on the 16th | . . . | A New Song. | . . . [rule] | [Baltimore:] Printed by John Dunlap. | [1777.] ✓

Narrow folio broadside. Printed in two columns.

Leaf measures: 16 x 6½ inches.

This broadside contains a letter from William Smith listing the prisoners and military equipment taken by the Continental Army at Burgoyne's surrender. The terms of capitulation are also given. The New Song is a satiric piece of twelve stanzas on Burgoyne.

Not in Evans.
