

"to the judicious reader, resting in expectation of general favor".⁴⁶ The first number of the General Magazine was issued on June 6;⁴⁷ it continued through July and August, but probably not longer, perhaps because of an insufficient number of subscribers.

Hanna and Green are known to have printed one other work, the patriotic song (printed without music) Adams and Liberty,⁴⁸ designed to be sung to the tune of Anacreon in Heaven, now known as the air of the Star-Spangled Banner.

Henry Green, undoubtedly the son of Frederick Green, state printer at Annapolis, dissolved his partnership with Hanna during 1798; but remained in Baltimore, probably as a printer, at least through June 17, 1800, when he is known to have delivered a letter from his father to the editors of the Federal Gazette.⁴⁹ He was married on September 5, 1799, to Ann Walker, daughter of Captain James Walker of Anne Arundel County;⁵⁰ he was later employed in the Farmer's Bank of Maryland, at Annapolis.⁵¹

There is a possibility that he took a press to Natchez, Mississippi, in 1800, and printed a newspaper

46 Baltimore intelligencer. May 28, 1798.

47 Telegraphe. June 6, 1798.

48 Appendix A. Imprint bibliography, item 450.

49 Federal gazette. June 17, 1800.

50 Telegraphe. September 6, 1799.

51 Wheeler, J.T. op.cit. p. 70.