

H. L. C. further observes: "... how mean those two persons must be, who, for the wretched consideration of a few cents, have printed and sold a production so injurious to their fellow-citizens."

No copy known.

[645]

Lloyd, James.

Mr. Lloyd's Speech, in the Senate, Monday, Dec. 19. on the Bill making further provisions for enforcing the Embargo. [Baltimore? Office of the Federal Republican? 1808]

7 p. 22 cm. Without imprint.

Caption title.

Probably printed by Joseph Robinson.

Printed in full in the Baltimore Federal Republican, Dec. 28, 1808, and advertised in the same paper Dec. 30, 1808, as "Just Published, And for Sale at the Office of the Federal Republican, Price 12 1-2 cents each, the Speech of Mr. Goodrich ... And, Mr. Lloyd's Speech ..."

CSmH; CtY; MH-BA; NNU-W.

[646]

Martin, Ennalls.

A View of Fever: delivered in an Oration before the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of the State of Maryland, on the second day of June Eighteen Hundred and Seven, and published at their desire. [filet] By Ennalls Martin, M.B. [5 lines, quotation] [short rule] [1 line, quotation] [filet] Baltimore: Printed by Fryer and Rider. 1808.

24, [1] p. 20.5 cm. [A]<sup>4</sup> A-B<sup>4</sup> [C]<sup>2</sup>(-C2).

DSG; MdBM; MdH1 (sig. C1 (errata leaf) inverted).

[647]

Maryland. General Assembly. House of Delegates.

[Bills, resolutions and reports containing subjects of a public nature. Annapolis, F. Green, 1808]

"Ordered, That the printer to the state be and he is hereby directed to print one hundred copies of every bill, resolution and report, containing subjects of a public nature, which shall be read by the clerk during the present session, also of all official papers, for the use of the members."—House V. & P., Nov. sess. 1808, p. 6.

In the almost complete absence of copies of the printing thus ordered, it seems best to include all