

Almanacs. Maryland.

Der neue Nord-Americanische Stadt und Land Calender, auf das Jahr unsers Heilandes Jesu Christi, 1805. Welches ein gemein Jahr ist von 365 Tagen. [8 lines] [short rule] Nach dem Märyländischen Horizont und Nordhöhe berechnet; jedoch in denen angrenzenden Staaten von Virginien, Pennsylvanien und den mehr entlegenen Staaten ohne merklichen Unterschied zu gebrauchen. [double rule] Hägerstaun, gedruckt für Jacob D. Dietrich's Bücher-Stohr, und daselbst beym Dutzend oder einzelnen Stück für die allerniedrigsten Preise zu haben. [thin-thick rule] [1804] [42] p. 21 cm. [A]²(A+1) B-D⁶. Seidensticker p. 162. Reichmann 84. DLC (lacks sig. Al.3 and D6); MWA; MdBE (t.p. only of 1st gathering); PHI. [236]

Almanacs. Maryland.

[frame of printing ornaments] Poor Robin's Almanac, or the Starry Observer for 1805 [date in relief on block background] Being the first after Bissextile, or Leap Year, and the 29th of American Independence—calculated for the meridians of Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee [sic]. Containing, beside the Astronomical Calculations, a variety of Curious Stories, Anecdotes, &c. [cut: cobbler] Baltimore: Printed for G. Keatinge's Book-Store. [1804] [32] p. 15.5 cm. A⁴ [B-D]⁴. DLC; MWA. [237]

Almanacs. Maryland.

[thin-thick rule frame] The Town and Country Almanac, For the Year of our Lord 1805: being the first after bissextile. [cut: U. S. eagle, bearing in beak streamer inscribed E Pluribus Unum] [rule] Frederick-Town: Printed by Matthias Bartgis, for Cotton & Stewart, And Sold at their Book-stores in Alexandria and Fredericksburg. [1804] [32?] p. 18 cm. [a]² A⁴ B² 2B² C⁶. Possibly the item advertised in the Frederick Hornet, July 20, 1804, as "Just published, English Almanacs For the year 1805." NH (sig. ²B stitched inside sig. C; probably misplaced. Leaves possibly lacking). [238]