

In Worcester, Mr. Clarence S. Brigham and his staff were generous with time, energy and suggestions, as they invariably are toward any bibliographical enterprise.

Special thanks are due to Mr. Rollo G. Silver, who first proposed the project, and to Mr. Lloyd A. Brown of the Peabody Institute Library, who has offered consistent encouragement.

Imperfection and incompleteness are the lot of any work of this sort. I shall be grateful to all those who can point out corrections or who can supply imprints not included in the pages which follow.

Roger Pattrell Bristol

Peabody Institute Library
September 27, 1952