ARRANGEMENT

During the past year we followed our normal practice of arranging such new records as were received before any consideration was given to older materials. By following this practice we prevent the backlog of materials waiting to be arranged—lost materials—from increasing. Most of the new accessions proved to be relatively simple arrangement problems: only the records of the Baltimore County Commissioners required study and time.

Of the older materials some progress was made in the arrangement of the early unbound Executive Papers, but this collection along with the early Court of Appeals Papers, which at some time in the past were confused with the papers of the General Court, remains one of our thorniest problems. The arrangement of the Testamentary Papers which had been begun the year before and had proceeded from 1650 to 1696 was continued during this year and has now been completed through the year 1739, leaving only thirty-eight years of the collection to be arranged. Exclusive of the Testamentary Papers, the Executive Papers and the Court of Appeals Papers, no other major arrangement problems remain.

DISPOSAL OF RECORDS

By virtue of Chapter 825, Acts of 1941, which provides that all State Agencies must offer their non-current records for de-
