

achieved command of our small but useful library. It is fortunate too that the employee who was responsible for the accomplishment of this task and who has resigned has been replaced by another trained librarian who will be able to continue this work.

During the course of the year the library will be removed from the Archivist's Office, which it has outgrown, to the small room in the rear of the public Search Room where it will be placed on shelves now being designed. This transfer will make our printed books more accessible to the public as well as to the members of the staff of the research room who are most concerned with them.

The number of items added to our collection during the course of the year is approximately the same as the number last year and the year before. A detailed list of accessions for the year follows:
