

Beall, historian of Prince George's County; Warren Browning, Member of the House of Delegates from Montgomery County; Mary G. Bryan, Director, Georgia Department of Archives and History; Meredith B. Colket, Jr., The National Archives; Agnes C. Conrad, Archives of Hawaii; Leon deValinger, Archivist of Delaware; Anne E. Edmonds, Librarian, Goucher College; E. W. Eller, Director, Bureau of Naval Archives and History; Francis C. Haber, Librarian, Maryland Historical Society; Bruce C. Harding, Field Representative, Forest History Foundation, Incorporated; Thomas J. Harte, History Department, The Catholic University of America; Claude B. Hellmann, Secretary of State of Maryland; John M. Hemphill, II, Research Associate, Colonial Williamsburg; D. Ralph Horsey, Clerk of the Circuit Court for Caroline County; Harry R. Hughes, Member of the House of Delegates from Caroline County; Wilbur H. Hunter, Jr., Director, The Peale Museum.

Also: Erich Isaac, historian of Kent Island; Joseph E. James, Rector of St. John's, Holy Trinity and St. Mary's Whitechapel Parishes, Caroline County; Stewart M. Joy, Assistant Minister of St. Paul's Church, Rock Creek Parish; Ralph L. Ketcham, Associate Editor, The Papers of James Madison; John D. Kilbourne, Director, Historical Society of York County, Pennsylvania; Aubrey C. Land, Professor of History, University of Nebraska; William H. McCauley, Assistant Archivist of Delaware; Eric McDermott, Georgetown University, historian of the first generation of Marylanders; Thomas B. R. Mudd, Maryland State Senator from Charles County; Franklin R. Mullaly, Historian, National Park Service; William P. Phillips, Treasurer of the Vestry, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Berlin, Maryland; Ralph Reppert, staff member, Sunday Sun; J. Edmund Thompson, Rector of Middleham Chapel, Calvert County; Frederick Tilp, Architect; Karl L. Trever, Special Assistant to the Archivist of the United States; Robert W. S. Turner, African Central Archives; Evangeline K. White, author.

PUBLICATIONS

The fiscal year which ended June 30, 1956, saw more publications completed by the Hall of Records staff than in any previous year. It is understandable, therefore, that the fiscal year which followed was one devoted in the main to the beginning of new publications rather than to the completion of old ones. There were also several long-term projects on which progress can be reported.

The Twenty-First Annual Report of the Archivist appeared May 1, 1957. It was written, as was its predecessors, to give the members of the Hall of Records Commission a detailed account of the work