

Bryden B. Hyde, President of Historic Annapolis, Inc.; William S. James, Harford County member of the State Senate and historian of Spesutia Island; G. Bucher John, Clerk of the Circuit Court for Carroll County; Robert Jackson Kerr II, Executive Director, Preservation Society of Newport County, Rhode Island; Louise D. C. King, Librarian, Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of the State of Maryland; Herbert E. Klingelhofer, biographer of Matthew Ridley; Reverend Robert Lawthers, Deacon in Charge, Trinity Parish, Charles County.

Others were Reverend Thomas T. McAvoy, Archivist, University of Notre Dame; Robert H. McDonough, Director, Division of the State Library, Archives and History, New Jersey; Reverend Willard S. McGinnis, Rector, All Faith Parish, St. Mary's County; Cora McNamara, Deputy Clerk, Circuit Court for Dorchester County; Reverend Arthur Pierce Middleton, Rector, St. Paul's Church, Brookfield Center, Connecticut; Walter E. Minchington, Professor at the University College of Swansea, Wales; Daniel M. Murray, Howard County Delegate to the General Assembly; George W. Nutwell, Register of Wills for Anne Arundel County; Elizabeth Packard, Director of Restoration, Walters Art Gallery; Mrs. Henry C. Patterson, Friends Historical Library, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania; Mark O. Pilchard, Worcester County Delegate to the General Assembly; Martha Sprigg Poole and Katherine R. Poole, co-authors of an article on Mt. Airy, Charles County; H. E. Reinhard, student of post offices and postmarks in Maryland to 1847; Irwin S. Rhodes, historian of early Jewish life in America; Orlando Ridout IV, Anne Arundel County Delegate to the General Assembly; John Beverley Riggs, Research Associate, The Longwood Library, Longwood, Delaware.

Other visitors were Reverend Nelson W. Rightmyer, Historiographer of the Diocese of Maryland, author of Maryland's Established Church and The Parishes of the Diocese of Maryland; Milton Rubincam, editor, National Genealogical Society Quarterly; Reverend Edwin Schell, President, Methodist Historical Society of the Baltimore Conference; Frank J. Schwartz of the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory and student of shell fish; George B. Scriven of the Harford County Historical Society; Fred Shelley, Head, Presidential Papers Section, Manuscript Division, The Library of Congress; Robert C. Smith, Department of History, University of Pennsylvania; Neil Strawser, news commentator and biographer of Samuel Chase; Jean Stephenson, Fellow of the American Society of Genealogists; Harrison Tilghman of Easton, family