

U.S. Naval Academy; John M. Knego, Librarian, St. John's College at Sante Fe; Aubrey C. Land, Professor of History, University of Maryland; Carl P. Lewis, biographer of Reverdy Johnson, University of Maryland.

Delegate Samuel C. Linton, Jr., Charles County; E. John Long, Capt. U.S.N. (Ret.), Bethesda, Feature writer, The New York Times Magazine; James A. McAllister, Jr., Deputy Register of Wills and Historian of Dorchester County; Walter G. McCarroll, student of History of Religion in Maryland, 1633-1750, University of Maryland; John W. McCleary, Professor of History, Towson State College; Delegate Bernard J. Medairy, Baltimore County; Haskell Monroe, student of Confederate Attempts to Induce Maryland to Secede, 1860-1861, Texas A and M; Joseph C. Morton, Social Sciences Department, Waynesburg College, Pennsylvania; Ralph G. Murdy, member of Governor's Commission to study Sentencing in Criminal Cases; Patricia O'Connor, graduate student in history; Richard Overfield, Graduate Student, University of Maryland; The Rev. William Plummer, Rector, Christ Church Parish, Port Republic, Maryland; Richard H. Randall, Maritime Committee, Maryland Historical Society; William S. Ratchford II, Executive Secretary, Maryland County Commissioners Association, College Park; Alan D. Ridge, Archivist, McGill University, Montreal, Canada; John Riggs, Eleutherian-Hagley Museum, Wilmington, Delaware; Mary-Carter Roberts, Department of Economic Development, State of Maryland; Milton Rubincam, American Society of Genealogists, Washington, D.C.; Anna Wells Rutledge, Art Historian, Charlestown, S. C.; John W. Sause, Asst. Attorney General of Maryland, Centreville, Maryland.

The Rev. David Shanock, St. Mary's College, North East, Pennsylvania; David C. Skaggs, student of Maryland Elections, 1755-1775, Georgetown University; Joseph H. Smith, Professor of Law and Legal Historian, Columbia University; Robert G. Stewart, Director of Properties, National Trust, Washington, D. C.; Robert J. Thompson, graduate student, University of Maryland; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Van Lennep, Jr., Talbot County Historical Society, Easton; Howard Webber, Editor-in-Chief, The Johns Hopkins University Press; Carl Wilkop, Geneticist, National Institute of Health; Mrs. J. M. P. Wright, President, Historic Annapolis, Inc.