

Section 103 E. If in construction and repair of the public roads it be necessary for their proper drainage, it shall be lawful for the road supervisors and their assistants to let off the water therefrom upon adjoining lands at such place as may be proper and necessary; provided, it shall be done with as little injury as possible to the owners of said lands, and that the drains through such lands be continued, so as to prevent the spreading of water over arable lands. It shall also be lawful for the road supervisors and their assistants to take gravel and sand from adjoining lands with and by the consent of the owner or owners for the construction and repair roads, and timber from adjoining woods for repair of bridge; for all of which the County Commissioners shall make lawful and just compensation to the owners if demanded.

CHAP. 354.
Proper drainage of roads.

Section 103 F. It shall be the duty of the road supervisors to go over all the public roads in their respective districts and precinct twice annually, in March or April, and in November or December, and to open all drains and culverts and turn off the waters whenever washing or about to wash on or over the roads.

Roads to be inspected.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved April 8, 1902:
