

for which he is appointed, and who shall be paid such reasonable salary as the County Commissioners shall determine, having regard to the service performed by him.

Duties.

SEC. 189. And be it enacted, It shall be the duty of said road supervisors to superintend the construction and repair of all roads, bridges and culverts in their respective districts, including all work done or given out under contract; but no supervisor shall have any pecuniary interest in any contract and shall furnish no team for any work (unless previously authorized in writing by the County Commissioners); and when the construction and repair of roads shall not, in any district or sub-district, be given out under any contract, the supervisors shall employ the necessary labor and teams to do the work required, and shall dispose of the same in such manner as will be most economical and best for the public benefit; and all bills for contracts and for labor and material supplied in the roads, shall be sworn to and approved by the supervisor before payment by the County Commissioners.

Division of districts.

SEC. 190. And be it enacted, Each road supervisor shall divide the roads of his district into convenient sections and number them, and if desirable, make sub-divisions of his district; and he shall keep an account of all work and other transactions pertaining to the roads of his district, showing the kind and quality of work done on each section of road, by whom the work was done, and the cost of the same, which shall be returned monthly to the County Commissioners, who shall keep a record of the same, to be at all times open for public inspection.

Neglect of duty.

SEC. 191. And be it enacted, Any supervisor shall be subject to removal, by the County Commissioners, for neglect or refusal to comply with the duties of his office; provided, notice of the charge be given and he have an opportunity to appear and reply to the same; and if any supervisor shall resign or be removed, his place shall be filled by the County Commissioners immediately thereafter.

Record book.

SEC. 192. And be it enacted, The County Commissioners shall keep a record book for each district, in which shall be recorded all the roads and bridges of the district, and all surveys and other proceedings which may be had in reference to any road or bridge in that district, the cost of procuring such books to be paid for out of the general road fund.
