

LLOYD LOWNDES, ESQUIRE, GOVERNOR.

“rejected,” or if for any other reason a person who has received a ballot shall leave the polling place without voting they shall likewise draw a line through his name and number on the poll books, and write thereafter the words “did not vote.” All ballots returned to the judge holding the ballots shall be immediately strung by him upon a cord or wire, provided for the purpose, still folded, and with the coupon still attached, and each endorsed upon the back thereof with the words “spoiled” or “rejected,” or “not voted,” as the case may be, and all such ballots shall be returned to the Supervisors of Elections as hereinafter provided.

COUNT OF THE BALLOTS.

270 F F F. As soon as the election polls shall have been closed the judges in their several precincts shall immediately, and at the place of polling, proceed as hereinbefore provided, to canvass the votes cast, having first sealed up the unused ballots remaining of the package last broken by them, and endorsed the same with their signatures as “unused ballots.” The canvass shall not be adjourned or postponed until it shall have been fully completed, nor until the several statements hereinafter required to be made by the judges and clerks shall have been made out, signed and sealed by them. The judges shall have the right to station police officers or officers of the peace within the room wherein such canvass is made, in order to keep the peace. The challengers and watchers shall be allowed to be present inside the guard-rail, and so near that they can see that the judges and clerks are faithfully performing their duties.

Canvass of votes.

270 G G G. Immediately after the closing of the polls, before the ballot box is opened, all the coupons taken from the ballots cast shall be destroyed, and each of the election clerks shall write his name in each of the poll books, immediately under the name of the last voter, and the judges shall write in ink, opposite to and against the name of each person entered in their registers who is not shown by said registers to have voted, and in the appropriate column headed “voted,” the word “no,” so that the said column may be wholly filled up, and the judges shall then compare the registers, make them agree, and ascertain the number of persons who by said registers, are shown to have voted at that polling place on that day; and when they have made comparison and ascertained such fact, they shall announce the same in a loud voice.

Coupons to be destroyed.
