

stocks, bonds or evidences of indebtedness such deposits by such officers or corporations may be made with said corporation, and for the complete preservation of all articles or things so deposited for safe keeping, the said corporation may construct, erect, purchase or lease such suitable buildings, and all other means which may be or become necessary, and to maintain and let for hire, vaults, safes, and like receptacles.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That when any court shall appoint the said corporation a receiver, trustee, administrator, executor, assignee, guardian or committee, or shall order the deposit of money or other valuables of any kind with said corporation, the capital stock as paid in shall be taken and considered as the security required by law for the faithful performance of its duties; provided, the said court shall not deem it necessary to require further security, and shall be absolutely liable in case of any default whatever; the court, if it deem necessary, may from time to time appoint suitable persons to investigate the affairs and management of said corporation, who shall report to such court the manner in which such money or valuables are kept or invested, and the security afforded to those by or for whom its engagements are held, and the expense of such investigation shall be defrayed by said corporation, or the court may, if it deem it necessary, examine the officers of said corporation under oath or affirmation as to the security aforesaid.

Capital stock
taken as security.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That in case of the dissolution of said corporation, the amounts due from the corporation as receiver, trustee, administrator, executor, assignee, guardian or committee, or depository of money under order of court, shall have preference in the distribution of assets of said corporation.

Preference
given.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That said corporation be and it is hereby authorized and shall have discretionary powers to invest at its pleasure its capital stock and moneys received on deposit, loan or otherwise; provided, that said corporation, in the investment of funds held by it as trustee, administrator, executor, assignee, guardian or committee, shall be subject to the laws of this State and the rules of courts now existing or hereafter passed governing investments of such funds by natural persons when acting in such fiduciary capacities; that it is authorized to take, have, hold and enjoy all such estate, real, personal and mixed, as may be obtained with the moneys

Invest the capital
stock.