

or on the envelope containing the same, prevail. If more names are marked for any office than there are persons to be voted for, such ballots shall not be counted for such candidates or delegates, as the case may be, but the whole ballot shall not for that reason be rejected for candidates for other offices, if any, and a ballot marked by any other than a black pencil shall not be counted. No vote shall be counted for any person whose name is cancelled, and the names of those voted for are to be indicated (and so considered and counted) by the absence of any cancellation of their names. And one of the judges, in the presence of the other, shall open the envelopes, take the ballots therefrom and hand them separately to be canvassed by another of the judges, sitting where the other judges and the watchers can see the same. The judge canvassing the ballots shall call out the name of each candidate voted for and the designation of the position for which he is voted for, the other judge looking at the ballot at the same time, and the clerks shall, as the names are called, make proper tally of the same on tally sheets provided for the purpose. When all of the ballots have been canvassed in this manner, the primary election clerks shall compare their tallies together, and ascertain the total number of votes received by each person voted for, and when they agree upon the number, one of them shall announce in a loud voice to the judges and watchers the aggregate number of the votes received by each candidate. If requested by any watcher or challenger present in any canvass, it shall be the duty of the judges and each of them to exhibit to such watcher or challenger any envelope and any ballot cast, fully open or in such manner or condition that he may fully examine the same, but the judges shall not allow any ballot to be taken from their hands; as the envelopes are opened, each shall be strung upon strong twine or wire and likewise the ballots, as counted, shall also be strung.

SEC. 160I. Upon the completion of the count and the announcement of the result, the poll book, oaths, tally sheets, certified copy of registration and the ballots cast and counted shall be placed in the ballot box, together with a package containing the ballots not counted as aforesaid, marked "defective," which ballot box shall then be locked and the key removed. Thereupon the judges of election shall all write their names upon a strip of paper of sufficient length for the following purposes, said strip of paper shall then be pasted over the key hole of said ballot box, and over the slit in the lid in such manner that the signature shall extend across the place of opening of the lid, and so that when the box is opened it will tear the paper and destroy the signature, and so that when the key is
