SEC. 229. It shall be the duty of the treasurer, as soon as the tax levy shall have been made to prepare the bill of each taxpayer, and on application he shall forward the bill by mail or otherwise, or deliver the same to the person or persons or corporations to whom the property included in said bills is assessed.

SEC. 230. It shall be the duty of the treasurer to enforce the payment of all such taxes remaining unpaid on the first day of June in the year succeeding that in which the same have been levied, by a levy upon the real or personal property of the person or corporate institution so neglecting to pay. If the taxes be due and owing upon real property or upon real and personal property, the treasurer shall be authorized to levy upon either real or personal property to enforce the payment of the same; whenever real estate is susceptible of division, so that a part thereof will sell for enough to pay the taxes due and all costs, the treasurer may, in his discretion, employ a surveyor to divide the same and tax as part of the costs in such proceedings such compensation for services of such surveyor as he may consider just, not exceeding the sum of five dollars, but in no case shall a charge for a survey be made unless an actual survey shall have been ordered by the treasurer and made; whenever any levy is made, notice thereof, together with a copy of
