

CHAPTER 337.

AN ACT to further protect partridges or quail, English pheasants or pheasants or ruffed grouse, ortolan, doves, woodcock, jacksnipe and squirrels, rabbits, wild turkeys and deer in this State, and to prevent the rapid extermination of such birds and animals during the open season by providing the maximum number which can be legally killed by one person in any one day.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That it shall be unlawful for one person to kill more than fifteen partridges (quail) in any one day, or more than six pheasants (ruffed grouse) in any one day, or more than three English pheasants in any one day, or more than fifty ortolan or rail on any one tide, or more than twenty-five doves in any one day, or more than twelve woodcock in any one day, or more than twelve rabbits in any one day, or more than twelve squirrels in any one day, or more than twelve jacksnipe in any one day, or more than two wild turkeys in any one day, or more than one deer in a season, when it shall be lawful to shoot said birds or animals.

SEC. 2. Any person violating the provisions of this Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in the sum of five dollars for each and every partridge, pheasant, or ruffed grouse, English pheasant, dove, woodcock, jacksnipe, rabbit or squirrel, and the sum of fifty dollars for each wild turkey, and one hundred dollars for each deer so killed in excess of the limits herein mentioned, and shall stand committed to the county jail, if said fine is not paid, for one day for each dollar of fine imposed, but not for a period of more than sixty days; any Deputy Game Warden or constable or informer who shall procure a conviction under this Act shall be entitled to the half fine recovered, and remaining half shall be paid over to the State Treasurer to the account of the State Game Protection Fund, to be used by the State Game Warden as may be provided by law.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved April 7, 1910.
