

The paintings, natural and artificial curiosities, and exhibitions, and other attractions are deserving of particular attention, and cannot fail to afford the amusement for which they are designed. The saloon, where concerts and similar performances are carried on, is very spacious, and exceedingly well calculated for such purposes. Proprietor Mr. DeSelding.

Public Schools.—These are eight in number. Male school No. 1, and female No. 2, are held in a very large and handsome stone building, 90 by 70 feet, at the corner of Greene and Fayette streets. This building will accommodate 400 boys, and as many girls in different apartments. The number of pupils at present is 160 boys and 82 girls. Teacher of the male school, Mr. McJilton, of the female Miss McConkey. Male school No. 2, is kept over the engine house, Fell's Point; number of pupils 136, teacher, Mr. Robinson. Male school No. 3, is in a convenient house, erected for the purpose, in Aisquith, near Pitt street, 80 pupils, Mr. Carter teacher. Female school No 1, is over the engine house, Fell's Point, 65 pupils, Miss McDermot teacher. For other free schools, Sunday, schools, &c. see chapter x.

Saint Mary's College.—Incorporated as an university in 1806. The buildings, which are of considerable extent, are situated near Pennsylvania avenue, and embrace the college aforesaid and a theological seminary. The establishment contains a library of 12,000 volumes, a chemical apparatus, and a botanical garden. The present number of students is 190 of which 123 are boarders. President of the College, Rev. John J. Chanche; Rev. Dr. L. R. Deluol, President of the Seminary.

Saint Mary's Orphan Asylum.—For the support and education of destitute female orphans, a building for the use of this benevolent institution is situated in Franklin street, between Charles and Park streets.

Theatres.—Baltimore has three of these establishments, which have been already described, as the Adelphi, Front street, and Holliday street theatres.

