

HARRY E. ARNOLD
Special Examiner U. S. Department of Labor.

Mr. Harry E. Arnold occupies a most important position in the United States Department of Labor. His duties are of a high character, requiring an extraordinary amount of ability combined with discretion and good judgment. Mr. Arnold is the only colored man holding a position of this kind in this department.

His work as an examiner requires him to travel extensively throughout the United States. He was selected for this position on account of special fitness and his efficient record as a special agent in the U. S. Department of Commerce, which position he formerly occupied. At one time Mr. Arnold was a resident of Baltimore, but during recent years has made his home in New York and Washington. His wife, formerly Miss Daisy N. Coleman, of Washington, and one of the most popular teachers of that city, is a sister of R. W. Coleman, the compiler of this directory. His brother, Dr. O. H. Arnold, is a prominent dentist of Baltimore.

Mr. Arnold is engaged in the investigation of labor conditions in the different cities as it applies to the colored American. His work is to ascertain the amount and character of labor which can be utilized and to awaken him to the full seriousness of the labor problem at this time. He is emphasizing the fact that the opportunity for patriotic service has come to the colored laborer, and that the man who does his part in contributing to the food production of his country is as patriotic as the man who shoulders the gun.
