

Prof. Mason A. Hawkins

Prof. Mason A. Hawkins, who, since 1909 has faithfully filled the position as principal of the Douglass High School. He was given a testimonial at the High School building by a group of more than over three hundred patrons, including many of the school officials. On this occasion the competency of the man, and the efficiency of his work were discussed.

Miss Dorothy Mae Coleman

Miss Dorothy Mae Coleman, daughter of Mr. Robert W. Coleman who due to her father's handicap has rendered invaluable service to him in his work and has proved an indispensable element in the publication of this directory by taking complete charge of all phases except collecting the material which part is done by Mr. Coleman.

Miss Coleman is an alumnus of the Baltimore High and Training Schools and a present member of the School system.

Prof. Francis M. Wood

Baltimore is glad to have in its official staff of the Educational System, Prof. Francis M. Wood.

Through his personality and efficient work he has gained the respect of the entire population of Baltimore city. He is a fairminded, sympathetic, congenial co-operative citizen. Since his connection with the Baltimore School System he has made many improvements, and there has never has been a teacher or principal who was not glad to see him. Also he is always open to suggestion, a sign of true leadership.
