

amount of taxes due from each opposite the name of each such delinquent. Such notice shall state that unless said taxes and all expenses are paid on or before the first Tuesday in April following, the said taxes will be collected by law. A copy of this publication shall be posted in front of the City Hall and five such notices as aforesaid shall be posted in five conspicuous places in each of the five wards of Cambridge. This publication in a newspaper and posted copies as aforesaid shall be considered as a final notice to all delinquent town taxpayers.

Where property continues charged on the assessment books to a person after his or her death, the statement, account and notice may be delivered to his or her executor or administrator, or to his or her adult heirs-at-law, or to any one of them, and in case their heirs are minors or non compos, to the guardian or committee of such minors or non compos. If the property is charged to a non compos or lunatic, it may be delivered to his trustee or committee.

On the first Wednesday in April following any levy, the Clerk, Treasurer and Collector may shall proceed to levy an execution on the property, and the claim for taxes shall, upon the said first Wednesday in April become an execution. He may seize the real and leasehold property charged on the assessment book to the delinquent, and any personal goods and chattels belonging to the same, and such seizure shall become a lien on the personal property seized from the time of the seizure. He may proceed to sell either the real, leasehold, or personal property, or so much as may be necessary for his purpose, at public sale, to the highest bidder, on giving twenty days' previous notice, in the case of real and leasehold property, of the time, place and terms of sale, by advertisement inserted in some newspaper published in the city, and in the case of personal property, by giving ten days' previous notice thereof by handbills posted in four conspicuous places therein. At the day appointed for the sale, the Clerk, Treasurer and Collector shall attend, and offer and sell so much of the property seized as may be necessary to pay taxes, interest and expenses. In the case of personal property, the sale shall at once vest the title thereto in the purchaser. In the case of real or leasehold estate, upon the ratification of the sale as herein provided, it shall vest the title in fee in the purchaser absolutely. In the case of real estate, the purchaser shall pay an amount of the purchase money sufficient to pay taxes, interest, costs and expenses and no more, and shall execute to the Clerk,
