

tions during the pleasure of the Attorney-General and be subject to his orders, and shall receive salaries not exceeding in the aggregate, three thousand, three hundred dollars ($3,300). The Chief Clerk shall, subject to the direction and control of the Attorney-General, and in addition to any other work assigned to him, have charge and custody of the office, books and papers of the Department of Law, which shall be arranged and indexed by him in such convenient and orderly manner as to be at all times readily accessible. He shall also keep in said offices a complete docket and duplicate pleadings of all suits, actions and proceedings of which the Department of Law has charge, upon which docket such appropriate entries shall be made as to show at all times, the condition of each of such cases. He shall also keep on record, in convenient and accessible form, copies of all written opinions furnished by the Department of Law, and also abstracts of all titles examined by or for the Department.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the Department of Law is authorized to establish and maintain offices and headquarters. All papers and documents relating to the business of the Department shall be permanently filed in said offices. The offices shall be equipped, maintained and supplied at the expense of the State, and the Attorney-General and his assistants shall be allowed for all traveling and other expenses connected with the duties of the Department.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That the State Librarian is authorized and directed to furnish the Department of Law, upon the request of the Attorney-General, one or more sets of the Maryland Reports, and copies of the additional reports as issued, one or more sets of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, and copies of the additional Acts as issued, and sets of the several Codes containing the public general and local laws of Maryland, and supplements thereto as issued, and also from time to time such other law books, or sets thereof, now or hereafter in the State Library, as the Attorney-General may desire for his Department, and as, in the judgment of the State Librarian, are available for that purpose; the title to all of said books to remain in the State of Maryland.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That the Attorney-General shall, on the first day of January, in each year, make a written report to the Governor of the business and