

changes to the Comptroller. In the event that the amount due all high schools eligible for State aid exceeds the amount appropriated therefor, then the amount appropriated may be pro rated among such high schools.

128. Each county high school in the first group shall receive State aid on the basis of the cost of instruction, and in the following manner: The sum of six hundred dollars ($600) on account of the principal, and the sum of four hundred dollars (400) on account of each of the first two assistants employed for high school work; the sum of three hundred (300) dollars on account of each of the first two special teachers; the sum of three hundred dollars (300) on account of the next assistant teacher employed for regular high school work, and the sum of one hundred (100) dollars on account of each additional high school teacher, provided the total amount does not exceed the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000). For high schools in Baltimore City, the amount on account of each of the five schools shall be three thousand five hundred (3,500) dollars. In this Chapter the term "Special Teacher" shall be construed to mean a teacher of commercial, manual, or industrial training, home economics, agricultural branches, music, physical education, fine or applied arts. Each county high school in the second group shall receive State aid on the basis of the cost of instruction, and in the following manner: One-half the salary of the principal not exceeding the sum of six hundred (600) dollars, the sum of four hundred (400) dollars, on account of one assistant teacher; each high school of the third group shall receive State aid on the basis of the cost of instruction and in the following manner: One-half the salary of the principal, not exceeding five hundred (500) dollars.

State aid shall not be allowed for the third assistant employed in any high school unless such high school has an enrollment of at least sixty-five bona fide high school pupils and an average daily attendance of at least fifty pupils; and State aid shall not be allowed for the fourth assistant employed in any high school unless such high school has an enrollment of at least ninety-five bona fide high school pupils, and an average daily attendance of seventy-five pupils; and State aid shall not be allowed for the fifth assistant employed in any high school unless such high school has an enrollment of one hundred twenty-five bona fide high school pupils and