The supplement to an act to reduce into one the several acts of assembly respecting elections, and to regulate said elections, was read the second time, passed, and sent to the senate by the clerk.

The house proceeded to the second reading of the bill relative to sheriffs and constables; on motion, the question was put, That the following be added to the said bill? viz. "provided, that nothing contained in this act shall prevent, or be construed to prevent, any sheriff or coroner of this state from receiving an assignment of, and bringing suit on, any cause of action assigned to such sheriff or coroner under and in virtue of an act which passed in the year 1768, entitled, An act for the recovery of certain amerancements, and also upon defaults and executions, and recovering the money due thereon, agreeably to the provisions of said act; and provided, that any sheriff or coroner of this state shall also be entitled to all the benefits and advantages reserved to such sheriff or coroner under and in virtue of the act which passed in the year 1794, entitled, An act for the amendment of the law in certain cases, any thing in this act contained to the contrary notwithstanding." Resolved in the affirmative.

The question was then put, Shall the said bill pass? Resolved in the affirmative. Which bill was sent to the senate by the clerk.

Mr. Cox, from the committee, delivers to the speaker the following report:

THE committee to whom was referred the petition of Peregrine Briscoe, of Cæcil county, report, that they have investigated the facts therein stated, and although they have not such evidence before them as to enable them to state to the house that the payment as alleged has been actually made, yet they are so far satisfied of the truth of the petitioner's statement as to induce them to suggest the propriety of giving further time to the petitioner to produce such testimony as they are persuaded may be had, or such as they think would satisfy the house of the justice of his claim; they therefore recommend a reference of the subject to the consideration of the next general assembly, in order that the petitioner may in the mean-time have an opportunity of producing satisfactory and legal evidence in support of his allegation.

By order,

J. GOLDER, clk.

Which was read the first and second time by especial order and concurred with.

Mr. Montgomery, from the committee, delivers to the speaker the following report:

THE committee to whom was referred the petition of sundry inhabitants of Harford county, praying that a law may pass whereby the levy court and the trustees of the poor may be elected by the people, and the number thereof reduced, report, that they have taken the same into consideration, and are of opinion that the decision of the house on the first subject determines the principle for this session.

With respect to the latter subject, they are of opinion that as the office of a trustee of the poor is not profitable, but considered so burthensome as that by law the person appointed is compelled to accept under a penalty, the electing them in the manner prayed would be considered by the people unimportant, and by their indifference improper characters, who might squander the money of the people instead of applying it to the benevolent and humane purposes intended, might thereby become the trustees of the poor; besides, in filling up vacancies occasioned by death, resignation or refusal to act, the elections might become so frequent as to be burthensome, and of course increase the chances of unfit characters being appointed. Yet the committee are of opinion that the mode now prescribed by law for the trustees filling up their own vacancies is not right, but that this power ought to be lodged elsewhere, and they consider it may be safely delegated to the orphans court of the county; they consider too, that the number of the trustees ought to be lessened, and that the time of service ought to be reduced, and that leave ought to be given to bring in a bill conformable to this latter part of the report.

All which is submitted.

By order,

L. GASSAWAY, clk.

Which was read the first and second time by especial order, and the question put, Will the house concur with the said report as far as the word "session?" Resolved in the affirmative.

The question was then put, Will the house concur with the residue of said report? Determined in the negative.
