

streets be improved to a greater width than as improved by the State Road Commission, and that the sides of the said streets be curbed, and

WHEREAS, knowing that the said streets could be best improved, with less cost and expense, if done at the same time that the work of the improving was being done by the State Road Commission, the said Commissioners of Cambridge, proceeded to have the said streets improved to a sufficient width, that is, one of them, Race Street, and both Washington and Race Streets curbed where the said state road was built, the work being done at the same time that the state road was built. And

WHEREAS, the total cost of the additional improving of the said Streets done by the said Commissioners, was the sum of $9,436.56, of which sum the owners of the real property abutting on the said streets paid one half of the cost of improving the streets opposite such property, the owners of property on each side of the said streets paying one fourth, and together on both sides being one half, which amounted to $4,111.00, leaving to be paid by the Commissioners of Cambridge the sum of $5325.56, which was greater than the amount paid by property owners because of it being necessary to improve the said streets at places where they were crossed or joined by other streets, and in order to pay the said sum the said Commissioners were compelled to create an obligation on the part of the said town which is now unliquidated. And

WHEREAS, it is necessary to complete the building with concrete the part of Washington Street traversed by the said state road on each side thereof to the curb that has been made and put down, which work will cost, for the town of Cambridge to pay, about $4000.00, and the said streets should be completed as soon as possible. And

WHEREAS, it is necessary, for the safety of the public health of the said town, that sewers be laid and put down in different sections of the said town, as soon as such work can possibly be done, which work will cost about $10,000.00. And

WHEREAS, in order to liquidate the debt on account of the construction of the work hereinbefore named, and in order to pay for work and material for the other public permanent improvements hereinbefore named, it is necessary that the said Commissioners of Cambridge borrow, on the faith and credit of
