

ninety-nine feet to the end of the eleventh line of the old boundary (as defined by said Act of 1870) south thirty-four degrees and thirty minutes, east thirteen hundred and thirty-eight feet to a large sugar tree, marked with twelve notches; south thirty-one degrees west eight hundred and forty-six feet to said National road, thence north seventy-five degrees and twenty minutes west one hundred and ninety-one feet to the place of beginning.

But the Mayor and Councilmen of Frostburg shall have full power and authority to extend by ordinance from time to time the boundaries and limits herein described by adding to the same any or all contiguous or other territory; provided, however, that said additional territory shall not extend beyond the distance of one mile from the present limits and boundaries as hereinbefore set forth.

For the removal and abatement of nuisances, to carry out and enforce all sanitary regulations, and for the apprehension of all disorderly persons, vagrants and their associates, the said Mayor and Councilmen shall have jurisdiction for one mile beyond the city limits as now located or as they may hereafter from time to time be located under the provisions of this Act.

Section 144. The Mayor and Councilmen of Frostburg may pass such ordinances, not contrary to law, as they may deem beneficial and necessary for the good government of the city; they shall have power to remove nuisances and obstructions from the streets, lanes and alleys, drains and water courses within said city, and from any adjoining lots, and also any houses, or other buildings that may become dangerous to the neighborhood on any account, and to provide for imposing a fine upon any person or persons causing or creating any such nuisances or obstructions, and to enforce such rules, penalties and regulations as they may think necessary to preserve the public health and secure the inhabitants from contagious, infectious, or other diseases, to suppress drunkenness, vice, gambling and immorality, and punish all violations of the public peace from whatever cause, and, generally, they shall have power to ordain and enforce all ordinances, rules and regulations necessary for the peace, good order, health and safety of the town, and of the people and property therein, and may impose such reasonable fines, forfeitures, or imprisonments as to them may appear necessary for the violation of any of the ordinances of said town. They shall have power to establish and regulate a Station House or Lockup for confinement of
