

urer such sums of money as may be required each year for postage, stationery and other incidental office expenses.

Section 130. That in case the person so elected shall fail to execute the bonds required by the preceding section on or before the day prescribed for his entering upon the duties of his office, or before the annual levy of taxes is placed in his hands for collection, as the case may be, or in the event of the Treasurer's removal from the county, death, resignation or removal from office, the County Commissioners shall declare said office vacant, and at once proceed to fill the same by appointment of a suitable person possessing the qualifications herein prescribed for the remainder of the current term, when a Treasurer shall be elected for a full term of four years.

Section 131. He shall perform all the duties now by law required to be performed by said Treasurer, or which may be required of him by any future law. He shall receive as compensation for all his services as Treasurer an annual salary of three thousand dollars, to be paid monthly, which said sum shall be in lieu of all fees and commissions.

Section 132. He shall have the power to appoint such assistants as he may think necessary and at such compensation as said Treasurer may fix and determine, said salary, however, shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of three thousand dollars; and the assistant or assistants so appointed shall take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of this State and shall execute such bond or bonds as the Treasurer may require. That the assistant or assistants so appointed may be required by the said Treasurer to do any and all work in relation to the assessment, transfer and tax records at any time during the year, and it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to assist and require the said assistant or assistants to aid in the preparation or revision of the assessments and transfers each year and in transcribing and recording such matter, including the mailing of notices, so that a proper and efficient system may be organized and maintained in said office and the system of records between the office of the County Commissioners and the Treasurer's office may be complete and in accord.
