

States who is ordered to active duty in any such force for a period of thirty days or less shall not be deemed to be active service in such force during such period.

(2) The term "trainee" as used in this sub-section means an individual who entered military service after April 1, 1940, who continued such service for not less than ninety consecutive days and whose military service was terminated on or before March 31, 1943.

(3) The term "first benefit year" as used in this section means the benefit year within which the trainee terminates his period of military service and the term "second benefit year" means the benefit year next succeeding such first benefit year.

(4) For the purposes of Sections 3 (b)1, 3 (c) and 4 (e) of this Act, the base period of a trainee for his first benefit year shall, Section 19 (r) of this Act to the contrary notwithstanding, extend from the first day of the base period for the benefit year in which he was inducted into military service through the last day of the base period fixed under the other provisions of this Act for such benefit year and for the second benefit year shall extend through the last day of the base period fixed under the other provisions of this Act for such second benefit year; provided, however, that the aggregate total amount of benefits paid to a trainee with respect to weeks of unemployment occurring within his first and second benefit year shall not exceed one-fourth of his wages for insured work during the base period fixed under this sub-section for such second benefit year.

(5) Notwithstanding, if under an Act of Congress, payments with respect to the unemployment of individuals who have completed a period of military service are payable by the United States, any such individual shall be disqualified for benefits until he has exhausted all his rights to such payments from the United States.

BENEFIT ELIGIBILITY CONDITIONS

4. An unemployed individual shall be eligible to receive benefits with respect to any week only if the Board finds that—

(a) He has registered for work at and thereafter continued to report at an employment office in accordance with such regulations as the Board may prescribe, except that the Board may, by regulation waive or alter either or both of the requirements of this sub-section as to individuals attached to regular jobs and as to such types of cases or situations with respect to which it finds that compliance with such requirements would be oppressive, or would be inconsistent with the
