

tered mail summons shall constitute effective service even though not delivered (1) if such non-delivery is caused by the addressee or addressee's agent's refusal to accept delivery and (2) if the clerk mails such summons to the addressee by ordinary mail at least three days before the date fixed for the trial. Notations by an authorized postal employee to the effect that the addressee or his agent has refused delivery shall be prima facie evidence thereof.

752B. The Judges of the People's Court may by rule provide for the service of summons in cases brought in said Court under the provisions of Section 752 hereof by ordinary mail special delivery, except that no money judgment shall be entered thereon. Where service is by ordinary mail special delivery, the clerk shall enclose the summons in an envelope addressed to the defendant or to the occupant of the premises in question, prepay the postage and mail the same forthwith, noting on the records the day and hour of mailing. Said envelope shall have printed thereon direction that in case of non-delivery to the addressee or to the occupant of the premises, it shall be returned to the Court within the time so fixed by rule and printed on said envelope. If not returned to said Court within said time, it shall constitute prima facie evidence of service of said summons on the premises. If the envelope containing the summons shall be returned to the Court, personal service of such summons shall be made by constable upon said tenant, assignee or under tenant in said premises, or upon his or their known or authorized agent, but if, for any reason, neither said tenant, assignee or under tenant, nor his or their agent can be found, then said constable shall affix an attested copy of said summons conspicuously upon said premises, and such affixing of said summons shall, for the purpose of this sub-division of this Article, be deemed and construed a sufficient service.

752C. The Judges of the People's Court may by rule provide for the service of summons in cases brought in said Court under the provisions of Section 752 hereof by ordinary mail. Where service is by ordinary mail, the clerk shall enclose the summons in an envelope addressed to the defendant or to the occupant of the premises in question, prepay the postage and mail the same forthwith, noting on the records the day and hour of mailing. Said envelope shall have printed thereon direction that in case of non-delivery to the addressee or to the occupant of the premises, it shall be returned to the Court within the time so fixed by rule and printed on said envelope. If not returned to said Court within said time, it shall constitute prima facie evidence of service of said summons on the premises. If the envelope containing the summons shall be returned to the
