

Surely, there are no bombshells here.

For any who may be opposed to the projects themselves or to the loan proposals at this time, there will be plenty of time for expressions of opposition between now and the General Election when the people of Baltimore will make their decision.

We all know that the heart of Baltimore, like the business areas of other old cities, needs a dramatic operation.

This is it. It deserves the support and encouragement of all of us. The presently proposed proximity of the Civic Center to the area of the Charles Center Renewal enhances the desirability of the total project.

I am advised that the previous suggestion that Baltimore County might need some emergency legislation has been withdrawn.

The task before you is clear.

I trust you will lose no time in applying yourselves to its performance.
