CHAPTER 190.

An act to regulate the Inspection of Red Oak Staves and Heading in this State. Passed March 4, 1842.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That from and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of any inspector of lumber in this State, when called upon and requested by the owner of any red oak staves or heading, to inspect and count the same in the following manner, to wit: every sound stave, twenty-eight inches long, three inches wide and five-eighths of an inch thick on the heart, and clear of a bad knot, shall be deemed and counted as a prime stave, and every sound heading eighteen inches long, five inches wide and five-eighths of an inch thick on the heart, and clear of a bad knot, shall be deemed and counted as a prime heading, and all other staves and headings not coming up to this standard shall be thrown by as cullings. Inspector of lumber to inspect staves, etc.
Prime staves and heading
Cullings

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That said inspector shall have as a compensation for his services, forty cents per thousand, for all prime staves and headings so inspected and counted by him, one-half to be paid by the purchaser, and the other half by the seller of the said staves or heading. Compensation of inspector—how paid

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That no persons shall act as inspector of staves or heading, except those commissioned by the Governor and confirmed by the senate, as lumber inspectors, under the penalty of one hundred dollars, one-half to the informer and the other half to the State, to be collected as other fines and forfeitures are collected in this State; provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to extend to the buyer or seller of said staves or heading, when by an agreement between them, the said staves or heading are to be counted without inspecting them. Who shall be inspector, etc.
