

CHAP. 247. pleas, causes, matters and demands, of whatever kind, nature or form they be, and all and every other matter and thing therein to do, in as full and effectual a manner as any other person or persons, bodies politic or corporate, of like nature, within this State, may or can do.

To appoint professors, etc SEC. 8. And be it enacted, That the said trustees and their successors, from time to time, and at all times hereafter, shall have full power and authority to constitute and appoint, or dismiss, in such manner as they shall think best and most convenient, a president, who shall be ex-officio, a trustee, and professors, with proper assistants, for instructing the students and scholars of said college, and the president and professors so constituted and appointed from time to time, shall be capable of exercising such powers and authorities as the trustees of said college, and their successors, shall by their ordinances think necessary to delegate to them for the instruction, discipline and government thereof, and of all students, scholars, officers and servants belonging to the same.

Meetings—when held, etc SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That the said trustees, and their successors, shall meet at such times and places as their bye-laws shall direct, for any and all purposes they may deem essential to the wholesome execution of their ordinances, in all which meetings such number of the said trustees duly met shall be a quorum; provided, it be not less than six, three of whom to be Trustees of the part of the Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, and three of whom on the part of the stockholders.

Proviso. To make bye-laws, etc SEC. 10. And be it enacted, That the said trustees, when duly assembled at any stated or special meetings, upon due notice having been given, shall have full power and authority to make ordinances for the government of said college, and the instruction of youth, and delegate to the president and professors such powers and authorities as they may think best for the execution of the ordinances and rules of the college, and make and ordain bye-laws, rules and regulations, from time to time, and the same to alter and annul as they may think proper, and shall have power and authority to establish any conduct primary schools, in such places as they may deem advisable, and do all matters and things they in their judgment shall think will promote the interest of the institution, not repugnant to this charter, to the form of government, or any laws of this State, or of the United States.

Seals SEC. 11. And be it enacted, That the trustees, and their successors, shall have full power and authority to